

KIDNAPPED GIRL RESCUED

FOUND WITH HER ABDUCTOR IN A BACKWOODS SHANTY.

Asenath Cooper, 19 years of age, had been lured away from Newburgh by her Uncle—forced to walk nearly thirty miles and to sleep in a barn.

Newburgh, April 14.—Charged with kidnapping twelve-year-old Asenath Cooper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cooper of Middleboro, W. H. Sperry, 40 years old, is in jail in this city. He was arrested soon after midnight in the little shanty of his brother-in-law, Steve King, a backwoodsman, in the Mongaup Valley, town of Lumberland, Sullivan county. The arrest was made by Chief of Police William of Port Jervis and Deputy Sheriff Henry G. Porter of Orange county, with the assistance of the Rev. Edmund Campbell, assistant pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of this city, whose persistence led to the apprehension of the alleged abductor and the recovery of the little girl.

Handcuffed to an officer Sperry arrived in Newburgh about 9 o'clock this morning on the same train which carried little Asenath, who bears the marks of the ill treatment at the hands of her abductor. Soon after she arrived at the home of her foster parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McCrimmon, in this city, from which she was taken just a week ago to-day by Sperry. The little girl told a remarkable story.

Cowed by her abductor, she declared that she was obliged to walk fully thirty miles since she was spirited away from home. The first night, a raw night, she was obliged to sleep in a barn in the vicinity of Montgomery, N. Y., and did not receive a morsel of food until late Friday, when her first meal consisted of some cold beans and a piece of hard bread which Sperry had baked at a farm house. On Friday little Asenath said she was compelled to walk twelve miles into the Hakee-Nest Mountains, a lawless wilderness in the Mongaup Valley, where Sperry had been hiding since last Friday night. Sperry had the little girl in bed with him when the officers forced an entrance into the house. The little girl was promptly taken away from Sperry. The abductor spent the night in a Port Jervis lockup, while the little girl was taken to a hotel.

This morning, at the home of her foster parents, Asenath displayed marks on her arm which Sperry had branded with a hot iron. Sperry holding her so tightly when she attempted to get away from him. Sperry told the police that the little girl went away willingly, but Asenath gave an entirely different version, and insists that he forced her to go with him. Asenath said he made her walk twelve miles last Friday.

"And I would have had to walk five more to-morrow," she added, "if things had not turned out as they did, as Sperry said he was going to take me to a place in Pennsylvania, where his sister lives. He was arrested close to the Pennsylvania line."

Sperry to-day partially admitted a remarkable story told by Mrs. Etta Storms of 261 North Water street, who says she is positive that Sperry is really John Blackbecker, who married Alice Cooper, wife of her sister, Alice Cooper, about twenty-five years ago, and has since married three other women, two of whom died under suspicious circumstances. Sperry was arrested before Recorder Hyndman on Friday morning.

During the day both the girl and the kidnapper gave versions of the case. Asenath Cooper's story was:

"I wanted to go to school that Thursday afternoon when Mr. Sperry came to the house, but he wanted me to go to a place with him, and when I started to go, he caught me by the wrist and dragged me along. When I started to call out he said he would hit me in the mouth if I did not keep quiet. He took me to a place where I was afraid not to do so. We went along up by the car tracks to where they turn off, and then started to walk out the road. We went a long ways before a three mile wagon from the creamery came. The driver knew Mr. Sperry. He said 'Hello, Bill,' and I said 'Hello, Bill.' On the road I told him I did not want to go away, and I cried, but he said there was nothing to cry about. He kept hold of my arm and squeezed so hard it left black and blue marks. When we got ready to start on again we got in a wagon, rode to Port Jervis and from there to the place where they found us. After we got there the woman cut my hair and bangs. I am glad to get back home and hope I will never have another such experience."

Sperry says that the girl is not telling the truth. He did not compel her to go anywhere, he did not walk her the fifty miles and they had plenty to eat along the road.

"I took her," said Sperry, "because she wanted to go. I wanted to take her badly enough, for I love every inch of that child. I have loved her since she was a tiny little baby. The Lord knows there is no one in the world of whom I ever thought so much. I would not harm her or let her come to harm if there was any way in which I could protect her. I would have liked to have had her with me, but I was afraid to take her."

"On Thursday I was going away, but I had not thought to take her. She begged me to do so. She told me that her papa and mamma did not love her and that no one loved her, that they hated her, and she wanted me to let her go with me. I was afraid to take her, but I did want the child, and so her tears broke my will and I took her."

"It is not so that we did not have anything to eat along the road. I purchased stuff to eat, and we ate it. I got rides which took us most of the distance."

"It was hard to walk her across mountains, but I had to do it. I don't know how far it was, but it might have been twelve miles. We went from Belle McBride's to Steve King's. It was wrong. I was wrong in taking her. I acted against my own better judgment, but I did it only because I was unable to longer stand her pleading and begging."

Cripple and His Dog Saved at a Fire. A fire which started in the basement of the building at 27 East Broadway at 8:30 o'clock last night went up through the building, burning out the frame and picture store of Zuhinski Bros. On the first floor John King, a cripple, was in bed and had to be helped out by policemen who formed a line down the stairs. Sport King's elderly pug dog, was found unconscious on a fire escape by a fireman and carried to a place of safety, where he was revived. The fire did $2,900 damage.

Will of J. Sergeant Grant's Mother. The will of Katherine Sergeant Grant, mother of J. Sergeant Grant, disposed of $10,000 of personal property in this State and real estate in Chicago, which goes in equal shares to her son, her two daughters, Lily Grant and Mrs. J. Woodward Haven, and her granddaughter, Charlotte Grant.

Buffy's Sparkling Apple Juice

An ideal refreshment free from alcohol. Healthful. Exhilarating.

MORE MEAT RIOTS.

Angry Women Hit a Policeman and Batter a Rabbi's Face.

Women beef boycotters continued their rioting in Brownsville, Brooklyn, yesterday, and there were many assaults made on kosher shops. The places were wrecked, and heroism was used freely in destroying meats. There were three arrests of women.

Following an attack upon a woman who had bought a chicken in Mar Gelin's store at 11th and Thirtieth avenues, Policemen Ralph Howell of the Brownville station was set upon by a mob. They endeavored to take from him Mrs. Teresa Finkelstein, 25 years old, and Nettie Finkel, 35, whom he had arrested on a charge of being the leaders in the attack upon the woman. He was punched and kicked and hit with sticks and missiles, and he had to fight. His helmet was knocked off and trampled, and women's nails scratched his face so that the blood flowed. The women in his custody turned upon him fiercely.

Other policemen went to Howell's aid. They did not want to use their night sticks. They'd rather take a beating, they said, than let people be hurt for clubbing. All the way to the station house the fight went on. The women were finally locked up, charged with disorderly conduct.

It was then discovered that Howell had been bitten in the right wrist and palm by his assailants. He went to St. Mary's Hospital and had the wounds cauterized. Mrs. Yetta Davis was arrested charged with throwing a stone through the plate glass window of a butcher store at Fifth avenue and Amboy street.

In outbreaks of disorder over the high prices of meat the Jewish section of Newark yesterday a man was stabbed, a rabbi was beaten, one was thrown on a boat, several butchers were stoned and two arrests were made. Most of the meat dealers have closed their places voluntarily, and with the exception of three all of them have promised to keep the doors of their stores closed the price of beef is lowered. The action of the three owners in deciding to remain open caused the disorder.

Crowds of meat buyers began to gather in front of butcher shops in Prince and Broome streets yesterday morning. Attempts to make addresses from soap boxes on the street corner of Prince and Broome streets were made, but the police ordered the speakers to move on. Mrs. Esther Butzart, 22 years old of 341 Perseus street, and Mrs. Cecelia Davis, 22 years old of 115 Prince street, were the two arrested. They were being harangued at Prince and Broome streets, and it is said they urged the crowd to throw stones at the police. They were locked up at the Fourth precinct station.

Rabbi Moses Grossbard of 119 Prince street made his way to the site of a crowd in front of a market at 112 Prince street, where he pleaded with the women to return to their homes and not make trouble. He was surrounded by a mob after his face had been badly battered. Some women ran through a market at 124 and 126 Prince street and threw oil over the meat. The police gave chase, but the crowd closed in on them and the women escaped. Two women who entered a place to buy meat were roughly handled by the crowd and thrown from the store and thrown in the street.

Late in the afternoon a wagon of a beef concern turned into Prince street with a load of meat. The driver was surrounded by a mob of stones and other missiles and he drove off as fast as he could. Morris Yatskovsky, president of the Retail Butchers' Association, who lives in Prince street where his wife's place is in the association will close their places until the prices of meat are lowered by the wholesalers. The police drove the women and their sympathizers from street to street wherever they attempted to hold meetings. Five women were arrested. Second story windows were used by the leaders as rostrums from which to address the crowds in the streets. A butcher attempted to do business on Sixteenth avenue and women threw stones over his meat.

LIQUOR MEN FIGHT IT.

Bill Permitting Whitman to Carry a Case Over a Magistrate's Head.

Deputy Assistant District Attorney Whiteside returned yesterday from Albany, where he had gone in the interest of a bill now before legislative committees to amend the Code of Criminal Procedure as relating to prosecution of misdemeanors in Special Sessions.

Section 743 of the code is not clearly worded, according to Mr. Whiteside. Under it the District Attorney has prosecuted misdemeanor cases dismissed by a Magistrate as well as those held for trial. The recent decision of the Court of Appeals in the case of the People vs. Dillon held that the statute did not specifically confer this power on the District Attorney.

"In the last five years," said Mr. Whiteside, "a considerable number of cases affecting the morals of minors which Magistrates in some instances dismissed were represented to Special Sessions and convictions obtained. The purpose of the amendment is to preserve this power to the District Attorney."

Mr. Whiteside said that the amendment has lively opposition from the liquor dealers who were represented before the committees by the attorney for the New York Liquor Dealers Association.

POLITICAL SCIENCE MEETING.

Programmes of the Spring Sessions to Be Held at Columbia.

The spring meeting of the Academy of Political Science, affiliated with Columbia University, will be held at the university on April 18. There will be two sessions, one in the afternoon and the other in the evening, in Schermerhorn Hall. An informal dinner for members and guests of the academy will be given in Earl Hall before the evening session.

The discussion this spring will be on "The Cost of Living." A. Barton Hepburn is president of the academy, and on the advisory committee are Gov. Hughes, Senator Root, J. P. Morgan, Nicholas Murray Butler and Francis Lynde Stetson.

Alleged Immoral Theatre Posters.

Maurice Campbell, theatrical manager, playwright and owner of "Where There's a Will," which is playing at a Brooklyn Theatre this week, will have to answer this afternoon before Magistrate Tighe in the Adams street court, Brooklyn, in charge of violating the section of the Penal Code prohibiting the display of indecent or immoral posters. The complainant is Policeman Walter Connel Campbell was arrested on Wednesday and held in $500 bail for a hearing.

COUNCILMAN SENT TO JAIL.

Hoffstet Narration to Be Argued Before Gov. Hughes To-day.

PITTSBURGH, April 14.—Peter Meyer, former Councilman from the Twenty-eighth ward of Pittsburgh, one of the men accused of grafting, was committed to the Allegheny county jail this afternoon in default of $10,000 bail.

Meyer is the first Councilman to be imprisoned. He provoked the Court's ire by not appearing yesterday to plead though he had been notified that he was wanted. He appeared before Judge Cohen this morning and said he "understood" the Court wanted to see him.

He was roundly scolded for not appearing before and was ordered to find a bondsman at once or go to jail. Later Meyer appeared in court rather sheepish and asked for twenty-four hours more in which to get bail, but this was refused him and he was ordered to jail.

It is expected that a surprise of some sort will be sprung by the Pittsburgh attorneys at Albany to-morrow when the time comes for argument on the extradition of Hoffstet. Assistant District Attorney Seymour, who has had charge of the prosecution here, had a conference with District Attorney Whitman in New York, after which he called up his office in Pittsburgh and ordered certain documents and witnesses rushed to Albany by the early evening train to-night.

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 14.—Gov. Stuart to-day issued a requisition on Gov. Hughes for the return of Frank N. Hoffstet, Pittsburgh banker and head of the Pressed Steel Car Company, who is in New York and is wanted in Pittsburgh charged with complicity in the bribing of Councilmen. District Attorney William A. Blakeley of Pittsburgh came here this morning and Whitman's staff and Assistant District Attorney Seymour of Mr. Blakeley's staff went to Albany last night and at 12:30 to-day will appear before the Governor to argue about the extradition.

W. A. Blakeley, District Attorney of Allegheny county, Pa., who is on his way to Albany to see Gov. Hughes regarding the extradition of Frank N. Hoffstet, had consultation with District Attorney Whitman yesterday afternoon. Adrian H. Larkin, counsel for Mr. Hoffstet, was present. Mr. Blakeley, Mr. Larkin, Assistant District Attorney Perkins of Mr. Whitman's staff and Assistant District Attorney Seymour of Mr. Blakeley's staff went to Albany last night and at 12:30 to-day will appear before the Governor to argue about the extradition.

TAGGART FIGHTING MARSHALL.

Indiana Democratic Boss Wants No Senatorial Candidate Named.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 14.—A new scheme to prevent the Democratic State convention from naming a candidate for the United States Senate developed to-day when candidates for nomination told delegates from their districts that they won't continue in the race if the convention names a Senatorial candidate in accordance with the Governor's suggestion.

They gave as a reason that party success would be jeopardized because friends of candidates would be sore and instead of fighting the Republicans would be fighting among themselves. The applicants for State nominations who have taken this position are supporters of Taggart, and it is said that if the convention persists and a Senatorial candidate is named the party will have hard work making up its ticket.

PRAISE FOR TARIFF LAW.

Fifteenth Indiana District Republicans Take Their Cue From Tariff Speeches.

MARION, Ind., April 14.—John L. Thompson was nominated for Congress by the Eleventh district Republicans to-day. There were five candidates before the convention. The resolutions endorse the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, praise President Taft's administration and pledge support to Beveridge.

The tariff plank follows the utterance of President Taft in recent speeches, praising the law as a revenue maker and ushering in greater prosperity for the country.

Dinner to Bryan on April 18. William Jennings Bryan will be the guest of honor at a dinner given by the Circumnavigators Club on Monday, April 18, at the Hotel Astor. Mr. Bryan, who is a member of the club, called his acceptance this week. The Circumnavigators Club is an organization of men who have made a complete circuit of the globe. President Taft is a member. After the dinner Mr. Bryan will leave for the West.

PSYCHIC WAYS OF TEACHING

EVEN THE PIANO CAN BE MASTERED BY THOUGHT.

Mrs. David Mason Talks to the D. A. S. E. and Produces Her Daughter to Prove Her Theory—Writes a Poem Herself Under the Same Mysterious Influence.

In order that they might be suitably equipped for their advance on Washington, which will be made to-day, the members of the Story faction of the D. A. S. met last night at the Waldorf Astor and were coached by Mrs. David Mason in the practical use of psychic gifts.

There are, according to Mrs. Mason, many varieties of psychic gifts, and she admitted that she possessed in her own personality samples of nearly every kind.

"But before I go into the subject very much," she announced, "I want you to hear Marion play. There are, you know, two mediums through which we absorb knowledge—the intellect and the soul. Marion learned to play the piano entirely on the psychic plane. Her father, whose nature is most delicately attuned to psychic influences, noticed that she seemed to spend a good deal of time drumming on the table, and one day he said to her, 'My child, it seems to me from the way you use your hands that you should go to the piano.'"

Marion went, so Mrs. Mason explained, and played a really pretty tune without even counting one, two, three. That very same day another strange thing happened. Mrs. Mason persuaded Marion to take a turn with the automatic pencil, on which both her father and mother are expert performers, and the very moment she grasped it it wrote with incredible swiftness. "If you will sit at the piano an hour every evening we will teach you to play on the psychic plane."

Well, Marion had faith enough and grit enough to take up the offer, and after one short year of psychic instruction she can play almost anything she has never heard.

"She never plays the same thing twice," of course," explained Mrs. Mason, "and of course never anything that any one else has ever heard. She had formerly taken lessons in the usual way, but only long enough to enable her to play Mendelssohn's 'Spring Song.'"

At this point Marion advanced to the piano and casting her eyes dreamily in the direction of the ceiling rendered three selections.

"This affords an excellent illustration," Mrs. Mason said when the applause following her daughter's performance had died away, "of a truth which I want to impress upon all of you—it is impossible to be practical without being idealistic."

She gave as a reason that party success would be jeopardized because friends of candidates would be sore and instead of fighting the Republicans would be fighting among themselves. The applicants for State nominations who have taken this position are supporters of Taggart, and it is said that if the convention persists and a Senatorial candidate is named the party will have hard work making up its ticket.

They gave as a reason that party success would be jeopardized because friends of candidates would be sore and instead of fighting the Republicans would be fighting among themselves. The applicants for State nominations who have taken this position are supporters of Taggart, and it is said that if the convention persists and a Senatorial candidate is named the party will have hard work making up its ticket.

They gave as a reason that party success would be jeopardized because friends of candidates would be sore and instead of fighting the Republicans would be fighting among themselves. The applicants for State nominations who have taken this position are supporters of Taggart, and it is said that if the convention persists and a Senatorial candidate is named the party will have hard work making up its ticket.

They gave as a reason that party success would be jeopardized because friends of candidates would be sore and instead of fighting the Republicans would be fighting among themselves. The applicants for State nominations who have taken this position are supporters of Taggart, and it is said that if the convention persists and a Senatorial candidate is named the party will have hard work making up its ticket.

ten times. "You will write the poem for the opening of the exposition." She didn't pay much attention to it, because she was busy putting 100 girls through a flag drill, but the night before the exposition opened she saw a great light, like a full moon. The moon opened and a man's face appeared. The eyes were like great electric lights, and as she gazed into them the poem came to her. It was about the flag, and the liberty bell and other patriotic things, and it was accepted by the governors of the exposition.

ROCHESTER CAMPAIGN LIVES!

Haven Says He'd Like to Cross-Examine Aldridge on That $1,000 Check.

ROCHESTER, April 14.—The Democratic and Republican Congress candidates put in a strenuous day of campaigning to-day. Each side is making extravagant claims as to the result of the voting on next Tuesday, but neither intends to be a victim of overconfidence.

James S. Haven, the Democratic candidate, reached the party headquarters at 10 o'clock this morning and after two hours conference with party workers and the campaign committee was rushed in an auto to the factory district, where he made a half hour speech to three or four hundred workmen. His remarks were divided between the moral issue and the tariff. He said he would like to cross-examine Mr. Aldridge as to just what was done with the $1,000 check received from the fire insurance companies, intimating that it went to the Republican leader's personal account.

After listening Mr. Haven returned to headquarters and put in the rest of the afternoon there. To-night he addressed three ward meetings.

Mr. Aldridge was almost as busy. He was at the Republican committee rooms all day, and to-night spoke briefly at three ward meetings. At each of them he was well received.

George J. Denker, as attorney for Haven, applied to the Supreme Court to-day to compel the Commissioner of Elections to remove the Independence League ballot from the voting machines. The commissioner had interpreted the law as requiring him to give a column to the league, with the words "no nomination desired by Mrs. Thorne or her husband." The cause of the trouble was Thorne's appetite for strong drink.

QUEENS COURT HOUSE STRIKE.

Men Who Were Getting the New Building Ready to Use Called Out.

Four carpenters who were putting into place the furniture of the new court house in Long Island City quit yesterday because they had been called out by a walking delegate.

Learning of the trouble Judge Humphrey quit the temporary quarters now occupied by the county court on the top floor of the police station in Fourth street, Long Island City, and hurried to the new building. He found the outside guarded by a picket to warn away all workmen. A double truck load of furniture was waiting outside for help to unload it. The smaller pieces of furniture had been taken off, but as the men against the furniture extended to the truck the drivers were finally forced to reload their truck and take it away.

Beyond picking his way among the furniture strewn floors Judge Humphrey could do nothing. The workmen were already gone. He communicated with the office of Borough President Greaser, but they were about as helpless as the Judge.

It is understood that the walking delegate who ordered the men to quit claimed that the furniture was manufactured by a non-union concern, although the same company furnished the Hall of Records in Brooklyn without molestation.

If the building is to be opened the first of the coming month for court, as already advertised, something must be done immediately to break the strike and get the carpenters to work or Queens will again be in a quandary concerning the location of its courts.

Yale Student Dies in College Infirmary. NEW HAVEN, April 14.—Aaron L. Detra, aged 19 years, a sophomore in the academic department of Yale, died at the Yale infirmary to-day of grip and scarlet fever. He had been ill for two weeks. His family arrived here to-night and took the body back with them to their home in Norristown, Pa.

Suits and Overcoats for Young Men of all Ages

A man is not as old as his years, but as young as the style of his clothes.

Wm. Vogel & Son suits and overcoats carry the spirit and poise of youth in every line and curve.

Models and fabrics expressive of the style of the hour but devoid of exaggeration.

$15 to $45.

WM. VOGEL & SON

Two Broadway Stores At Houston Street At 44th Street

B. Altman &amp; Co.

FURS, RUGS AND DRAPERIES STORED

AND PROTECTION ASSURED AGAINST

DAMAGE OR LOSS.

PARTICULAR ATTENTION IS GIVEN TO THE

REPAIRING AND REMODELING OF FURS

AND THE RENOVATING OF RUGS AND DRAPERIES.

LACE CURTAINS ALSO CLEANED AND STORED.

Fifth Avenue, 34th and 35th Streets, New York.

SWORE OFF TO STOP SUIT.

Action for Separation Abandoned on Thorne's Taking an Oath.

The suit of Elizabeth Thorne for separation from Aaron Thorne came up yesterday before Justice Marvan in the Supreme Court in Brooklyn. From the start it was evident that the separation was not eagerly desired by Mrs. Thorne or her husband. The cause of the trouble was Thorne's appetite for strong drink.

At the suggestion of Mrs. Thorne's counsel that the separation ought to be avoided, Justice Marvan asked Thorne if he wouldn't rather let liquor alone than lose his wife and their fourteen-year-old boy. Thorne said that he would, and the Justice asked:

"Will you take a solemn oath to that effect?"

Thorne took the oath and the family hurried out of court together.

Wife Murderer Soon Convicted.

August Petersen was convicted before Judge Foster in General Sessions yesterday of the murder of his wife, Sophia, and was sentenced to serve not less than twenty years in State prison. The verdict was murder in the second degree.

The jury was out twenty minutes. Petersen, who was indicted at 174 West Fourth street, killed his wife on the night of February 2. He buried the body under the floor and it was not found until a week later. He was caught in Mobile.

Ten Pouches of Mail Lost in Newport Harbor.

NEWPORT, April 14.—Ten pouches of mail from New York destined for this city were lost in Newport harbor to-day from a ferryboat on which they were being brought from Jamestown. The ferry company recovered eight pouches but two sank and a diver will try to recover them to-morrow. A high wind and rough sea caused a truck to roll overboard.

INDIANS DYING OF HUNGER.

Serious Condition of Affairs Reported From Northwest Territory.

WINNIPEG, April 14.—During the winter hundreds of Indians to the north of here have died of starvation and disease. Every post reports a number of deaths from the surrounding districts. Provisions are at a very low ebb.

The Hudson Bay Company's short time ago ran out of flour, but fourteen bags were secured from Fort Smith, ninety-eight miles further north, where there was a supply. The flour was sold at $15 a hundred pounds, furs only being accepted on the payment.

The wolves are hungry and prowling around the settlement in search of food. They are unusually savage and single wolves have attacked men without fatal results.

The dogs too are suffering and in a miserable condition. Scarcity of fish was due to the laziness of the fishermen, who would not go far enough from home to reach deep water. Deer were reported to be plentiful at Fond du Lac, but that place is 200 miles from Fort Chipewyan and the dog teams were unable to bring much at a time.

African Game at American Museum.

The American Museum of Natural History announces a private exhibition of African game specimens for this afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock and to-night from 8 to 10 o'clock. The collection to be shown was made in 1909 by E. Hubert Litchfield, Bayard Dominick, Jr., and Henry Sampson, Jr., and includes more than 30 heads mounted in London. At the evening exhibition photographs showing the capture of the animals, the character of the country passed over by the expedition, and its inhabitants will be thrown upon a screen. The exhibition is for members and invited guests.

YOU HAVE THE OPPORTUNITY

If You Live Within This Area to Enjoy the Advantages of the Finest Milk Supply in the World, which is acknowledged by Expert Investigators to be

BORDEN'S COUNTRY-BOTTLED MILK

In view of their 53 years of practical experience, the Borden Company's reputation for supplying the finest milk throughout this section, is well founded.

BORDEN'S CONDENSED MILK CO.

1857 "Leaders of Quality" 1910

